Beam Appointed as GeoPro Regional Distribution Partner

Beam Communications, a wholly owned subsidiary of World Reach Limited, today announced that it has entered into a distribution agreement with GeoPro LBS Inc, of Canada, to sell Iridium's first comprehensive remote safety, monitoring and two-way global satellite messaging solution. GeoPro™ offers improved remote worker safety, productivity and management oversight

GeoPro LBS Inc., a developer of enterprise remote workforce solutions has launched the first workplace safety, monitoring, and productivity solution designed to work anywhere. GeoPro will support real-time, low-latency two-way communications over a highly-reliable, secure IP and global satellite network.

GeoPro is comprised of the GeoPro Messenger, a rugged two-way satellite text messaging device with built in GPS, and the secure hosted GeoPro Web Application that improves management oversight of employees in the remote field. GeoPro's solution leverages the Iridium satellite network and world class GPS, to provide affordable, real-time communication beyond cellular coverage zones, better awareness of worker location and status, and more effective management of emergency incidents or missed check-in events.

Using global satellite coverage from pole to pole this new product provides for a compact device for tracking and messaging communications so long as you have clear line of sight to the satellites, outdoors. The device is designed to work in vehicles or to be worn by personnel with a specific belt clip / holster.

Key features of the GeoPro Messenger device include:

- Two-way text messaging up to 160 characters
- Rugged IP66 design and covered emergency button
- Joystick to navigate on display keyboard and emergency, check-in, tracking, and waypoint functions
- Communicates with other email, mobile phone, or GeoPro solution users
- Iridium modem for over the air communication with the Iridium satellite network

Key features of the GeoPro Web Application include:

- Secure browser-based access to emergency, check-in, tracking, and waypoint functions
- Real time visibility of employee status and location displayed in a web-based map
- Automated monitoring of emergency incidents and prompt notification via email, SMS or the GeoPro Web Application
- Comprehensive message and event audit trail
- Point-and-click tools to configure specific business rules and processes

With the rapid increase in the requirements for monitoring and managing disasters The establishment of this strategic relationship with GeoPro LBS Inc strengthens Beam's commitment to providing a complete global, vehicle, asset, personnel tracking and monitoring solutions for its global markets.

Beam Communications will be the distributor of the GeoPro service and will so both directly and through a range of selected distribution partners throughout Australia, New Zealand and South Pacific Islands.

Yours faithfully

Michael Capocchi
Managing Director
